So, did you hear about the new student?

Yeah!

Did you hear about his old school?

no, what was it like?

I heard that their original school was all communists and he got fed up with it, and that's why he transferred.

I also heard that since the school stopped from all the students transferring that the remaining few were sent anywhere.

Really?

Yeah!

I mean we should probably check the facts with the new kid just to be sure, right?

Cool

Yeah, and he's in our next class!

Next class

new kid

There he is!

sh! okay, let me ask the questions!

Hi new kid I just wanted to ask what's your favorite food

Do you like it here? What was your old school like?

classes

Well..?

oh...

Japan! You're overwhelming the poor guy!

Oh, whoops... Sorry

It's okay

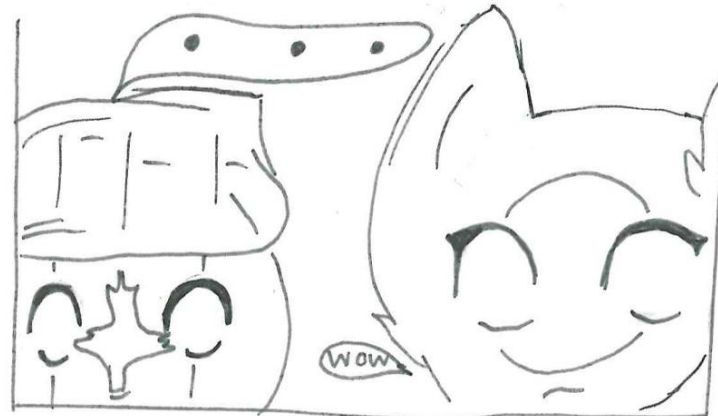

Huh?

I mean I could kinda tell what you were asking so... One I don't know I haven't been here long enough to have an opinion. 2nd Beef Stroganoff, and last my old school...

Well all I can really say was that it was communist. We were starved of lunch because they didn't have enough money.

And they only let you in if you were communist

Oh, I'm sorry to hear that. Don't be, why do you think the school shut down?

omg! What? I just realized something! What? we didn't ask for his name!

Oh yeah! my name is Russia. Japan! Canada!

Though you probably shouldn't get too used to me being here. Why? Well like my last school, this only allows capitalists right?

w-what? No No No No No! This school allows any government. Heck, we've even got Dictatorships here!

Well that changes things. Any communists here?

yeah we do actually now that I think about it, transfer from your school, Ukraine.

After this Russia was able to find other communists and met other allies that he never had before. Thanks anytime

He even made stronger allies like America

And was surrounded by all types of countries and all kinds of allied countries and had good years at UN High
